

REFLETS

JACKY HAUPT

This work is done in silver and black and white.

A deformation of the body in several reflections, with fragments of broken mirrors and stored on top of each other to reflect an unreal dimension of the person, his body and his image.

This photographic work is the search for a personal research on the identity of each.

Our society shows us a perfect illusionist, a reflection have to be perfect to be in the standards.

Jacky Haupt, breaks, breaks his identity reflects the many individuals in itself to finally get her own reflection.

In conclusion, perfection is a reflection of the desire of everyone, but that everyone is a reflection of himself.
